MESSAGE FROM THE WORLD AQUATICS PRESIDENT

It is my great pleasure to welcome you to the 2025 World Aquatics Swimming World Cup, a thrilling three-stop circuit across North America this October. We begin in Carmel, Indiana (10–12 October), continue to Westmont, Illinois (17–19 October), and conclude in Toronto, Canada (23–25 October).

Each stop will host three days of fast-paced short-course (25m) racing, adding intensity and excitement to the global swimming calendar. World Aquatics is proud to partner with these host cities, bringing additional high-intensity competition to the global swimming calendar.

World Aquatics is proud to partner with these host cities, whose dedication to aquatic sports and unwavering support for the Swimming World Cup have cemented this annual series as a fixture on the global sports calendar.

Carmel has been a centre of swimming excellence for over 50 years, having hosted 11 previous World Aquatics events, including the 2022 Swimming World Cup final and the 2017 World Junior Swimming Championships. From there, we move to Westmont, a first-time host whose FMC Natatorium at Ty Warner Park has already become a world-class stage for swimming. Our final stop is Toronto, a trusted partner that hosted the very first Swimming World Cup in 1988 and continues to play a vital role in our sport.

Since its debut, the Swimming World Cup has been one of swimming's most prestigious annual competitions, offering athletes a chance to shine and fans a front-row seat to world-class racing. A total prize purse of USD 1.2 million, along with bonuses for World Records and the coveted Crown awards, will again reward standout performances.

I extend my sincere thanks to our host cities and their organising committees, and I wish all athletes the very best of luck in the 2025 World Aquatics Swimming World Cup.

Captain Husain Al-Musallam
World Aquatics President

MESSAGE FROM THE MAYOR OF WESTMONT

On behalf of our entire community, I want to welcome you to Westmont. We are proud to be the home of FMC Natatorium at Ty Warner Park, which supports the vibrant swimming culture that exists here in the Chicago area and beyond. Westmont has welcomed swimmers from across the United States, and now we look forward to sharing our wonderful community with the many people travelling here from around the world. I am excited to tell you about what we have to offer!

The Village of Westmont is known for its commitment to public safety, excellent schools, and strong sense of community supported by popular annual events such as Cruisin' Nights and Taste of Westmont. Westmont has an outstanding business community, several thriving business districts, and is the international headquarters of Ty, Inc., the business behind the world-beloved Beanie Babies. Representative of our diversity, the Taipei Economic and Cultural Office (TECO) was established in Westmont in 1989. In addition to offering a range of activities, TECO aims to promote Taiwanese culture and further enhance understanding and interaction with American society.

While you're here, we hope you find time to get out into our beautiful community. Directly across the street from FMC Natatorium, Ty Warner Park is a sprawling 36-acre oasis of recreation and serenity, complete with walking paths and playgrounds. To take in a piece of Chicago Blues culture, you're in the right place, as Westmont is a former home of the late "Godfather of Chicago Blues" Muddy Waters. The local Muddy Waters Blues Museum proudly displays one of his six Grammy Awards, along with a collection of artifacts, albums, photos, and personal items.

The Hilton Chicago/Oak Brook Hills Resort & Conference Center is the premier golf resort, conference center, and vacation destination in the western suburbs of Chicago. Willow Crest Golf Course is the resort's 18-hole championship course – considered one of the finest in Illinois. The course offers a beautiful, natural setting with gently rolling bent grass fairways, well-bunkered greens, and unique water challenges.

There is no shortage of dining options in Westmont, boasting more than 100 restaurants catering to all preferences. Downtown Westmont on Cass Avenue offers a range of popular options, from casual coffee shops to elegant dinner spots. For authentic Chinese cuisine and other delectable Asian dishes such as Korean BBQ and Thai curries, head to the International Mall Asian Market – perfect for a quick and satisfying meal or a leisurely exploration of Asian culinary traditions.

To the swimmers, I wish you success in your events. I hope you enjoy your stay and look forward to welcoming you back to Westmont for future championships or as a leisure guest!

Sincerely,

Steve T. Nero

HISTORICAL OVERVIEW

Past & Present of the Swimming World Cup

World Aquatics launched the World Aquatics Championships in 1973 in Belgrade, establishing a flagship event that has since ranked alongside the Olympic Games as one of the sport's premier competitions. In the years that followed, the swimming community searched for opportunities to create an international competition in the fall season (for the Northern Hemisphere).

DURING THE 1970S AND THE 1980S, several federations staged successful meets such as the Arena Festival (Bonn, GER), the Speedo Meet (Amersfoort, NED, 50m), the Coca-Cola International (London's Crystal Palace, GBR, 50m), the NOK Schwimmfest (East Berlin, GDR, 50m) and the Meet de la Ville de Paris (FRA). In 1988, organisers from Toronto (CAN), Indianapolis (USA), Paris (FRA), East Berlin (GDR), Bonn (GER), Gothenburg (SWE), Venice (ITA), and Barnett (GBR) gathered in Rome. They agreed to launch the first FINA Swimming World Cup Series. Prize money was introduced, and the first meets were held in early 1989.

NOTABLY, THE "SWIMMING WORLD CUP" NAME HAD FIRST BEEN USED IN SEPTEMBER 1979 for a competition at Tokyo's Yoyogi Swimming Pool (50m). Eight teams competed: the United States, Canada, Sweden, the Soviet Union, and Japan, along with regional teams representing Oceania (Australia and New Zealand), Latin America, and the rest of Europe.

IN 1992, World Aquatics staged its first and only "Super Final" in Palma de Mallorca (ESP), open only to swimmers who had qualified through the series. The following year, the city hosted the inaugural World Swimming Championships (25m).

THROUGH THE EARLY 1990S, the series continued to expand. St. Petersburg (then Leningrad, RUS) hosted in 1991 and 1992 before withdrawing in 1993, when Beijing joined the calendar. Shanghai and Hong Kong were added in 1994. That same year, at the World Aquatics Technical Congress in Rome, leaders agreed to officially recognise World Records in the 50m backstroke, breaststroke, butterfly, and the 100m individual medley in the short-course pool.

THE LATE 1990S BROUGHT FURTHER GROWTH. The Swimming World Cup debuted in Sydney (AUS) and Rio de Janeiro (BRA) in 1998, with both nations continuing to host events in subsequent years. In 1999/2000, the ranking system was changed: final classification was replaced by scoring based on individual events. To make the series more competitive and engaging, World Aquatics introduced a new format beginning with the 2001/2002 season.

From then on, scoring was based on the World Aquatics Points Table, with only a swimmer's best result counting. The 2003/2004 edition broke new ground with stages in Africa (Durban) and Asia (Daejeon, KOR). Between 2007 and 2012, the calendar became more compact, concentrated into October and November, to attract stronger coverage and international attention.

Past & Present of the Swimming World Cup

IN 2013, the series began earlier in August, with most events in Asia (Beijing, Tokyo, Singapore) and additional meets in Doha and Dubai. In 2015, the Swimming World Cup was held in 50m pools for the first time, from Paris to Beijing to Doha, before returning exclusively to 25m pools for the 2016 and 2017 seasons.

THE SERIES RETURNED TO 50M POOLS IN 2019, aligning with preparations for the Tokyo 2020 Olympic Games. In 2021, Berlin hosted its 20th World Cup event—remarkably, the German capital had featured in every season since 1988, except 2018 and the cancelled 2020 edition.

IN 2022, the season began once again in Berlin, which also hosted a World Aquatics Diving World Cup. That year, Canada and the United States returned as World Cup hosts after absences of 21 and 16 years, respectively. The “Triple Crown” concept was also introduced: athletes who won the same event at every stop earned an additional USD 10,000 bonus and a symbolic golden crown.

THE 2023 SERIES RETURNED TO 50M POOLS, giving athletes valuable qualification opportunities ahead of the World Aquatics Championships – Doha 2024 and the Paris 2024 Olympic Games. In 2024, the Swimming World Cup visited three Asian cities across consecutive weeks, serving as a lead-in to the World Aquatics Swimming Championships (25m) in Budapest, where a record 30 short-course World Records were set.

IN 2025, the circuit returns to its North American roots with three stops: first-time hosts Carmel, Indiana and Westmont, Illinois, followed by Toronto, Canada. Building on the success of the Triple Crown, the bonus returns in 2025, alongside World Record-breaking incentives and a total prize purse of USD 1.2 million.

OFFICIAL TIMEKEEPER OF WORLD AQUATICS

Ever since the first World Championships in 1973, OMEGA has been on hand to measure the closest results in swimming competition history. CARMEL

From community roots to the Swimming World Cup stage

Making its international aquatics hosting debut is Carmel, Indiana. This event marks the return of the World Cup to the United States, one of the original countries to host the inaugural season in 1988.

Carmel may be a first-time host, but the region is well-acquainted with elite aquatics events. It has previously hosted 11 significant World Aquatics events, including the Swimming World Cup 2022 final, the 2019 Champions Series, the 2017 World Junior Swimming Championships, and the 2004 World Swimming Championships (25m) at what was then known as Conseco Fieldhouse, home of the NBA's Indiana Pacers.

For over 50 years, Carmel has been a center of swimming excellence, fostering world-class athletes through a strong, community-driven program. Three members of Team USA for the Paris 2024 Games come from Carmel: Drew Kibler, along with siblings Aaron and Alex Shackell.

WESTMONT

Midwest hospitality that welcomes the world

WORLD AQUATICS
SWIMMING WORLD CUP

Making its debut as host for the World Aquatics Swimming World Cup is the Village of Westmont, located 20 miles west of downtown Chicago in prestigious DuPage County. Westmont is well known for being a former home of the late “Godfather of Chicago Blues” Muddy Waters and the current international headquarters of Ty, Inc., makers of the world-famous Beanie Babies. With the opening of FMC Natatorium at Ty Warner Park in 2020, Westmont quickly became a hub for major aquatic championships, with FMC Natatorium having hosted the TYR Pro Swim Series, USA Artistic Swimming U.S. Collegiate Championship, USA Water Polo Kap7 Champions Cup, USA Water Polo Olympic Development Program National Championship, and more. FMC Natatorium is widely considered among the best indoor aquatic facilities in the United States, offering a nine-lane competition pool, eight-lane training pool, four locker rooms, and onsite seating for 1,300. Not far from FMC, visitors can enjoy the popular and diverse restaurants throughout Westmont; explore the best of DuPage County; or take a quick train ride to downtown Chicago — the third largest city in the United States — renowned for its architecture, food, and diverse culture.

FIVE TOP ATTRACTIONS TO VISIT BETWEEN COMPETITIONS

SKYDECK CHICAGO

The highest observation deck in America awaits thrill seekers and sightseers at Skydeck Chicago on the 103rd floor of Willis Tower (formerly known as the Sears Tower.) For an unforgettable and heart stopping experience, step out onto The Ledge — an all-glass balcony suspended 1,353 feet above the bustling streets. Or simply marvel at the 360-degree views spanning up to four states. A visit is complete with The Chicago Museum at Skydeck, where guests are immersed in Chicago history and culture.

CHICAGO ARCHITECTURAL TOUR

Chicago is renowned for its rich architectural history, from its Greek Revival buildings that survived the Great Chicago Fire to the legendary architects that invented the skyscraper and shaped modern Chicago. Whether touring by bus, foot, or on the Chicago River, learn about the city’s iconic skyline and the innovative styles that continue to influence architecture today. Considered a must-do while in Chicago, tours offer enthusiasts and those simply looking to experience the beauty of Chicago a memorable journey through one of America’s most architecturally significant cities.

FALL COLOR FESTIVAL AT THE MORTON ARBORETUM

A trip to The Morton Arboretum offers a spectacular escape into nature, all within reach of Westmont. 1,700 acres of open spaces and quiet cathedrals of trees await, featuring 4,000 species of trees from 40 countries. Visitors can take a leisurely stroll, hop on the guided tram, traverse nine miles of paved road, or hike along 16 miles of trails. Every autumn, fiery reds, golden yellows, and deep oranges define the landscape during the Fall Color Festival. Visitors will also enjoy the Vivid Creatures art exhibition, featuring five animal sculptures ranging in size from eight to 24 feet tall, that illustrate the interconnected relationships between creatures and their ecosystems.

CANTIGNY

This former estate of Chicago Tribune publisher Colonel Robert R. McCormick invites visitors of all ages to spend the day immersed in a blend of history, nature, and recreation. History enthusiasts will appreciate the First Division Museum, which honors the 1st Infantry Division of the U.S. Army. Not to be missed is the Tank Park, where guests can explore the collection of tanks from World War I through Desert Shield and Desert Storm. Wander among the award-winning gardens, which offer every-changing beauty each season. Cantigny also offers a restaurant, picnic areas, and a playground.

OAKBROOK CENTER

Oakbrook Center is the largest, premier open-air shopping destination in the Midwest, offering a blend of luxury and convenience in a beautifully landscaped environment. With over 160 stores, including high-end brands, it caters to diverse preferences. Enjoy a variety of dining options, from casual eateries to fine dining, along with several major attractions including Great Big Game Show, Pinstripes, Puttshack, and Wonderverso Chicago — the first of its kind created by Sony Pictures offering an immersive world of entertainment.

TORONTO

World Cup series returns to where it all began

WORLD AQUATICS
SWIMMING WORLD CUP

For the final stop of the 2025 series, the World Aquatics Swimming World Cup returns to Toronto, a city that hosted the competition in 2022, as well as the first-ever edition of the event back in 1988. Canada's largest city is a world leader in business, finance, technology, entertainment and culture, and one of the most multicultural cities around the globe. In addition to the 2022 World Cup, the Toronto Pan Am Sports Centre's competition pool, with a seating capacity of 3,500, has played host to numerous major swimming meets over the past decade, including the 2015 Pan American and Parapan American Games, as well as the Canadian Olympic and Paralympic Trials in 2016, 2021 and 2024.

FIVE TOP ATTRACTIONS TO VISIT IN TORONTO BETWEEN THE COMPETITIONS

THE CN TOWER

Built between 1972 and 1976, the CN Tower was once the tallest building in the world, at 553 meters tall. One of Canada's greatest landmarks and one of the seven wonders of the modern world, the CN Tower has come to define the Toronto skyline and is the city's most famous tourist destination. The iconic observation and communications tower offers unparalleled panoramic views of the city and Lake Ontario, with the thrilling option of the EdgeWalk around the tower's exterior. The view from the top is simply breathtaking. The revolving 360 Restaurant at the top completes a full rotation every 72 minutes.

THE ROYAL ONTARIO MUSEUM

The Royal Ontario Museum is the biggest museum of world cultures and natural history in Canada. Located right in downtown Toronto, the striking main entrance to the museum, known as The Crystal, will draw you in right away. The museum is home to a range of exquisite cultural and historical pieces collected from all over the world. All three levels are rife with treasures organized into more than 20 galleries — like the new Willner Madge Gallery, Dawn of Life or the Sir Christopher Ondaatje South Asian Gallery or Life in Crisis: The Schad Gallery of Biodiversity.

ST. LAWRENCE MARKET

Right in the middle of Toronto's historic Old Town district sits one of the city's best foodie destinations: the St. Lawrence Market. The market has existed in some form since 1803, and though the complex has evolved, it still contains an authentic farmer's market -- the best in the world according to a 2012 National Geographic article -- complete with specialty foods and restaurants for every taste. Treat your senses, as you see, smell, and sample fresh produce and cheese in the same place vendors have been selling it for over two centuries.

THE DISTILLERY HISTORIC DISTRICT

Restaurants, boutiques, arts, and entertainment are The Distillery Historic District's claims to fame. This pedestrian-only village features more than 40 heritage buildings that now house everything a modern traveller might enjoy. New fashion can be found in restored, Victorian-era buildings; culinary inventions are hidden behind weathered red brick walls; and art galleries and performance venues host events year-round, ensuring that the old neighbourhood is full of life. The sector gets its name from the Gooderham & Worts whiskey distillery, which used to occupy many of the buildings.

HOCKEY HALL OF FAME

If the expression "when in Rome" were applied to Canada, it would probably have something to do with ice hockey. Whether you're already a fan, or have never seen a game before, you may want to pay a visit to the Hockey Hall of Fame to get up to speed with Canada's favourite sport. Ice hockey is often used to define Canada and it's here on display, with 65,000 square feet filled to the brim with artifacts, mementos, and relics straight from the rink. Learn about the members inducted into the Hall of Fame, and see the sticks, gloves, pucks, and even nets from some of the greatest games ever played. And, most important of all, touch the actual Stanley Cup.

NOÈ PONTI
(SUI)

ACHIEVEMENTS

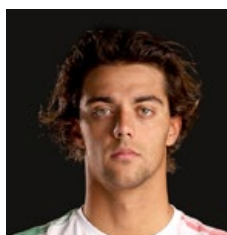

Swiss butterfly specialist Ponti aims to add to his notable career successes to date at the 2025 World Aquatics Swimming World Cup. He enjoyed a breakthrough season in 2021, winning bronze in the 100m butterfly at the Olympic Games in Tokyo and following it with a silver in the 200m butterfly at the World Aquatics Swimming Championships (25m) in Abu Dhabi.

At the following year's World Swimming Championships (25m) in Melbourne, Ponti collected two medals with a silver in the 50m butterfly and bronze in the 200m butterfly. He earned a maiden Swimming World Cup victory in the 100m butterfly at the last stop in Budapest in 2023. He followed it with a treble butterfly success across 50m, 100m and 200m at the European Short Course Championships in Otopeni.

After narrowly missing Olympic medals at the Paris 2024 Games, Ponti went on an absolute tear in the 25m pool, winning seven Swimming World Cup events in 2024. He then followed this up with three golds at the World Aquatics Swimming Championships (25m) – Budapest 2024 before taking two silvers in the 50m and 100m Butterfly at the World Aquatics Championships – Singapore 2025.

THOMAS CECCON
(ITA)

ACHIEVEMENTS

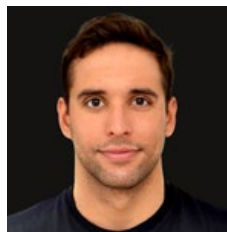

Italy's Thomas Ceccon will be looking to continue his winning streak on the Swimming World Cup circuit in 2025, having won gold in the 100m backstroke at the Olympic Games Paris 2024, the same event in which he holds the world record.

Ceccon is known for his versatility, having already claimed multiple medals in the World Aquatics Swimming World Cup, including gold in the 100m freestyle in 2024. He has also been a key contributor to Italy's relay teams on the world stage, earning medals at the World Aquatics Championships, World Aquatics Swimming Championships (25m) and the Olympic Games, including the gold and world record in the men's 4x100m freestyle relay at the World Swimming Championships (25m) 2022 in Australia.

The 2025 Swimming World Cup presents a chance for him to further solidify his status as one of the world's swimming greats.

CHAD LE CLOS
(RSA)

ACHIEVEMENTS

South Africa's most decorated Olympian of all time, with four medals, Chad Le Clos scored one of the sensations of the London 2012 Games, defeating the great Michael Phelps in the 200m butterfly. Four years later, he shared silver with the American great in a stunning 100m butterfly final in Rio.

As one of the most decorated swimmers in history, Le Clos is no stranger to success on the World Aquatics Swimming World Cup circuit. Over the course of his career, Le Clos has won over 150 World Cup medals, including multiple titles in the 100m and 200m butterfly. He was crowned the overall men's Swimming World Cup champion four times (2011, 2013, 2014, and 2017).

At Paris 2024, Le Clos competed in what was his fifth Olympic Games. Although he did not medal, his experience and competitive spirit continue to make him a fan favourite on the international circuit.

This year, the World Cup presents a chance for him to continue adding to his already historic medal collection, and he will no doubt continue to be seen as a dangerous competitor in his signature butterfly events.

HUBERT KÓS
(HUN)

ACHIEVEMENTS

A world junior record holder in the 200m individual medley and the Olympic and World champion in the 200m backstroke in both the 25m and 50m pools, Hubert Kós had been carrying Hungary's storied swimming legacy that stretches back to countryman Alfred Hajos winning the first modern Olympic swimming event at the Athens 1896 Games. For Kós, as a boy, the biggest rockstar in the sport was undoubtedly 13-time long-course world medallist László Cseh of Hungary.

Currently a student-athlete studying Human Dimensions of Organisations at the University of Texas, look for the 22-year-old to expand his winning repertoire beyond the backstroke events on the 2025 Swimming World Cup circuit.

He comes into this year's series on a roll, with a world short course title in the men's 200m backstroke, gold in the same event in the 50m pool at the World Aquatics Championships – Singapore 2025 and a bronze in the men's 200m medley where his training mate Leon Marchand set the world record.

ADAM PEATY
(GBR)

ACHIEVEMENTS

Widely considered the greatest men's breaststroke swimmer in history, Peaty's sporting accolades include three Olympic gold medals, eight World titles, and a string of World Records-setting performances in the 50m and 100m breaststroke events.

The Uttoxeter, Staffordshire, England native made his international debut at the 2015 World Aquatics Championships in Kazan, where he won gold in the 50m and 100m breaststroke events and broke the world record in the 100m breaststroke.

Peaty carried this success into the Rio 2016 Games, where he won gold in the men's 100m breaststroke, becoming the first British male Olympic swimming champion since 1988. He was utterly dominant thereafter, defending his World titles in 2017 and 2019, becoming the first person to ever swim under 57 seconds in the 100m breaststroke. At the Tokyo 2020 Olympics, he made history as the first British swimmer to successfully defend an Olympic title, securing gold in the 100m breaststroke and contributing to Team GB's victory in the 4x100m mixed medley.

A foot injury kept Peaty from the 2022 World Championships, but he came back to win two medals at the 2024 Worlds in Doha before securing two silvers at the Paris 2024 Olympic Games. Despite all these accolades, there is one thing missing in Peaty's career: a win on the Swimming World Cup. Could 2025 be the time the British lion adds this to his palmares?

SUMMER MCINTOSH (CAN)

ACHIEVEMENTS

From being a 14-year-old contender to becoming a champion and world record holder, Canadian swimmer Summer McIntosh's career is going stratospheric.

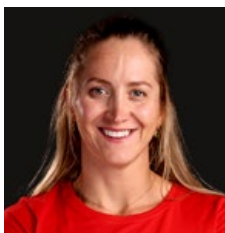

The Toronto-born Summer McIntosh was destined to be in the water. Her mother, Jill Horstead, competed in the 1984 Summer Games in swimming, so it really is no surprise that Summer found herself in the pool. At 14, McIntosh made her team for Canada at the Tokyo 2020 Olympics. As one of the youngest athletes at the Games, McIntosh placed fourth in the 400m freestyle. But Summer was just getting started. Her meteoric rise continued in 2022 at the World Aquatics Championships, where she won two world titles, along with a silver and a bronze.

The 2024 World Aquatics Female Swimmer of the Year, McIntosh, won three Olympic golds and a silver at the Paris 2024 Games, and three golds, a silver, and a bronze in the short course pool at the World Aquatics Swimming Championships (25m) last December in Budapest, Hungary. The now 19-year-old is coming off one of the all-time great individual performances at the World Aquatics Championships, where she won four world titles and a bronze.

KATARZYNA WASICK (POL)

ACHIEVEMENTS

World medallist and powerhouse sprinter Katarzyna Wasick has captured attention in recent years with her impressive performances in freestyle events, particularly in the 50m and 100m events.

Wasick has represented Poland at an impressive five Summer Olympic Games (2008, 2012, 2016, 2020, 2024) and has consistently been a podium threat on the World Aquatics Swimming World Cup circuit, winning multiple silver and bronze medals in the 50m freestyle. Additionally, at the 2022 World Aquatics Championships in Budapest, she claimed three gold medals in the women's 50m and 100m freestyle events, as well as a silver medal in the 50m freestyle, becoming the second Polish female swimmer to win a long-course World Championship medal.

This year, she will be looking to add to her growing collection of World Cup honours, having just missed out on a medal at the Olympic Games in Paris in 2024 – though the Pole did finish last year by earning two bronze medals at the World Aquatics Swimming Championships (25m) in Budapest.

KAYLEE MCKEOWN (AUS)

ACHIEVEMENTS

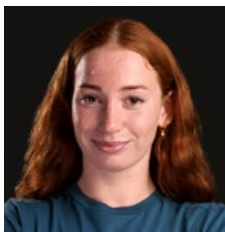

Kaylee McKeown first appeared on the international stage at the 2018 Youth Olympic Games in Buenos Aires, where the swimmer won women's 50m backstroke gold, alongside silver in the 100m backstroke, and bronze in the 200m backstroke.

This early success proved to be just an encore for the 24-year-old from Australia's Sunshine Coast. The backstroke specialist first stepped onto the podium at a global senior championship at the 2017 World Aquatics Championships in Budapest. McKeown owned the backstroke events at the Tokyo 2020 Olympics, winning the 100m and 200m distances in the strokes, as well as leading off Australia's golden performance in the women's 4x100m medley relay. Three years later, McKeown would defend both individual Olympic titles while also securing a silver medal in the women's 200m individual medley and a silver and bronze in relay events.

A six-time titlist at the World Aquatics Championships and a three-time world champion at the World Aquatics Swimming Championships (25m), McKeown was the overall women's champion on the 2023 Swimming World Cup.

MOLLIE O'CALLAGHAN
(AUS)

ACHIEVEMENTS

Australia's Mollie O'Callaghan comes into the 2025 Swimming World Cup as a five-time Olympic champion and 11-time world champion – with the 21-year-old Brisbane native matching Australia's all-time world title mark with fellow Aussie swimming icon Ian Thorpe.

O'Callaghan made her first international team at 15, when she competed for Australia at the World Junior Swimming Championships in Budapest, where she won silver as a member of the 4x100m freestyle relay team.

The 21-year-old freestyle ace has achieved notable success on both the World and Olympic stages. She won two Olympic gold medals at the Tokyo 2020 Games and three more gold medals at the Paris 2024 Games.

She has been just as prolific at the World Aquatics Championships, winning 11 golds and six silvers. Racing in the short-course 25m pool, O'Callaghan tasted considerable success when Australia hosted the World Aquatics Swimming Championships (25m), winning three relay golds. This year's Swimming World Cup will be O'Callaghan's first. Look for her to factor into every sprint and mid-distance freestyle event, as well as in the backstroke events.

MARRIT STEENBERGEN
(NED)

ACHIEVEMENTS

A Dutch world champion, Steenbergen rose to prominence early, helping the Netherlands to a silver medal at the 2015 World Aquatics Championships in the 4x100m freestyle relay – making her the first swimming world championship medallist born in the 2000s, at the age of 15.

Steenbergen earned her first individual global medal at the 2022 World Aquatics Swimming Championships (25m) when she won the women's 100m medley in Melbourne, followed by bronze in the women's 200m freestyle and bronze in the Mixed 4x50m freestyle relay.

The 25-year-old has found even greater success in the Olympic distance 50m pool, including her breakout performance at the 2024 World Aquatics Championships in Doha, where she won the freestyle 100m event and helped the Netherlands take the women's 4x100m freestyle relay title. Earlier this year in Singapore, Steenbergen backed up her individual 100m world title with a repeat performance, along with a bronze in the women's 4x100m freestyle relay.

A one-time winner on the Swimming World Cup, look for Steenbergen to be a significant factor in the overall women's title hunt in 2025.
