Appendix 6 – Rationale for Reducing Division 1 to 8 Teams

A. Competitive Integrity

- Reducing Division 1 from 12 to 8 ensures only the highest-performing teams compete at the top level.
- Improves game quality and overall competitiveness—every match matters.

B. Product Value

- More high-stakes, high-quality matches make the competition more attractive to broadcasters, fans, and sponsors.
- Ensures concentrated excellence, similar to elite formats in other professional sports.

C. Avoiding Strategic Withdrawals

- Under a 12-team format, lower-ranked teams may choose to drop to Division 2 intentionally, where qualifying to the Final is perceived as easier.
- An 8-team Division 1 format eliminates this behaviour by aligning incentives: only elite teams remain in Division 1, and promotion must be earned.

D. Operational Efficiency

- Easier calendar planning and cost control.
- Fewer games = better rest and recovery, and higher match intensity.

5. Benefits of the New Format

- Balanced and fair global participation.
- Increased visibility for emerging teams in Division 2.
- Improved commercial and media product.
- Unified men's and women's Final strengthen the brand and fan experience.
